Testimonial for pianostreet.com

As a professional pianist, teacher, composer and conductor, I am always looking for the best resources for myself and my students.

One of the most valuable I have ever found is pianostreet.com

At the push of a button, I can find repertoire for my students and myself, or replace lost library items; I can also access some hard-to-find works and even discover new pieces I had not previously known. I was delighted to find how easy it was to operate.

On one occasion, I was asked to play at the funeral of a friend's father—very specific pieces were asked for—his favourites. Those that I did not have I found in just a few minutes on pianostreet.com The family was very greatful—and so was I. Wonderful service!

The annual subscription fee is less than the cost of one music book here in Australia, and I have no reservation in recommending it as a "must" to all pianists, both teachers and students, amateur and professional.

With all good wishes for continuing success
